NICHOLAS STEPHEN⁷ HERBERT (STEPHEN WILFRED⁶, RONALD HAROLD⁵, HAROLD⁴, JAMES BROADBENT³, JAMES BROADBENT², THOMAS¹) was born on 25 November 1982 in Sandton Clinic, Johannesburg, South Africa. He is the grandson of KATHLEEN NORAH⁷ FLEMMER (MARIUS TOGER⁶, HANS CHRISTIAN⁵) born on 12 August 1914 in East London, South Africa and died on 31 October 1972 in Cape Town, South Africa.

My adventure began when I was born in Johannesburg South Africa... I remained here for the next 7 years of my life, which to the day had been the longest I have lived in a single country if you can believe that...well I'm only 20 now. I grew up with the local kids and went to primary school with a few of them too. I started my first term of Sub A but moved to Cape Town. I joined Grove Junior School with my older sister and remained there for a year and a half. After this I was transferred to Canada, which I thoroughly enjoyed. I had endless amounts of fun playing in the snow, ice skating, playing baseball and skiing. I moved to Holland two years later. Here I started playing junior league rugby for my school and in the summer cricket. I made lots of friends and spent most of my time roller blading. After spending 5 years away from South Africa, we decided it was enough and returned to Cape Town. I started standard 7 at Westerford High... and as if it wasn't enough being in 6 different schools, I decided to move again to Abbots College where I finished my final matric year. This is where I studied art and graphic design amongst other boring subjects.

After completing high school I was back on the road again after spending 3 months of holiday in Cape Town. Three closest friends and myself ended up in London where we worked and partied for a few months. I worked in a bar where I learned to pour cocktails and got amazing bar experience. We travelled on a tour all over Europe visiting rather a lot of different countries, and I ended up back in Cape Town in November. I enrolled at AAA School of Advertising in 2002 and spent my next year learning graphic design and art direction which I really enjoyed. During this time I ran a small clothing company and did a few mural art jobs.

After recently returning from London on my holiday, I am now beginning my second year of advertising at AAA, and living in town.
